The Attitude of Gratitude

From info@sosleadership.com

I love Thanksgiving! For me it is not a holiday, it is an attitude. An attitude is defined as a habit of thought and giving thanks every day for all of the blessings in my life. It is a habit that I choose daily as a way of life.

It is so easy sometimes to look around and see all of the things that are wrong in the world, but if you adjust your lens and see the world through the eyes of a grateful heart, you will be overwhelmed with the beauty and abundance that is part of God’s creation. I was in a hurry recently at the post office, but noticed a lady with a walker struggling to open the door. I stopped to help her and spent a few minutes talking to her. She told me how thankful she was to meet me. Not because I helped her, but because I slowed down and spent a few minutes with her. She told me how blessed she was to need a walker to get around because it forced her to slow down and experience all of the beauty in the world. That beauty is hard to notice at the fast pace we typically move at. That pace is a part of the busyness of our lives.

We can’t be grateful for things that we are too busy to experience. I am thankful this year that I live in the greatest country in the world in spite of all of its challenges. I am blessed to do the work that I do, that in some small way makes a difference in the lives of others. I am especially thankful to share that passion every day with my partners.

My challenge to all of you this Thanksgiving and every day is to plant the seeds of gratitude in others, especially those special people in your life. You will definitely reap what you sow!

Begin each day with an Attitude of Gratitude and it will change your life for the better!
